There is no part of our work causes more worry than our un-happy system of mails. Everything depends on the mails in our patrons getting the paper week by week. Occasionally some one's name is omitted in this office in copying the list, and the subscriber misses his copy of the paper. Never fail to notify us by a postcard, and we will do everything in our power to make up for the loss. In nine cases out of ten of those who fail in getting their paper, it is not our fault. Somebody has been careless with the mail. It may have been lost by a child sent for the mail. So let us rub along as gently as possible, and send word to this office.
